

Dear FCC Commissioners & Staff:

I have recently been notified of a potential decision that will prevent my local Internet Service Provider from offering broadband or high speed access service. I am opposed to any effort to restrict the service that my local ISP can provide. I have found my local ISP to be more responsive and less costly than the large national ISP's, phone companies, and cable companies. I would hope that the FCC would promote competition and not assist monopolies in their efforts to restrict free enterprise. Please do the right thing for consumers and open up the ISP market. Competition helps to control costs and forces companies to focus on customers.

Sincerely,
